Preface

Dear friends,

I am glad to present a report on what we have done in 2018 and what we have been involved in as the Aspen Institute Central Europe. For the past six years, we have been supporting collaboration of creative individuals from various areas of social life in Central Europe, and have participated in a wide range of programs of Aspen Institute branches – both at European and global level.

For the activities of the Aspen Institute, it is important to support interdisciplinary cooperation, open dialogue and development of values of upand-coming leaders. The distinctive feature of our meetings is that they are attended by representatives of various areas of public life and the private sphere, who have mutual interest in public affairs and the desire to further develop and cooperate not only for their own benefit. As part of the seventh Aspen Young Leaders Program, there was a meeting of another group of young leaders from Central Europe. Those who attend this program stay in touch with each other and frequently engage in other activities, primarily those organised by the Aspen Institute. Some of them have already become leaders in the area of politics, entrepreneurship, science, art or sports and many of them may soon engage in such activities.

Since our inception, we have focused on several issues that are particularly important for an open and prosperous Central European society. This includes not only the future of cooperation in Europe and the development of transatlantic relations, but mainly education, adaptation to the demands of globalisation and technological changes, their consequences for competitiveness and also resilience and cohesion of society.

We are also pleased that we have been able to initiate a discussion of this issues and to widen the network of participants and co-workers also in Hungary, Poland and Slovakia.

The fourth annual The Shape of (Central) Europe conference, which was visited by politicians, government representatives, entrepreneurs and experts, raised questions about the development of the Czech Republic and broader Central European region in several areas such as competitiveness, education and security, the quality of life and the quality of governance. The underlying documents and outputs of the expert working groups, including recommendations for future decision-making, received considerable media attention and we share them with those who can influence the future of our region at various levels of public administration. Public and expert discussions focused on the preparation of the next year's conference will continue throughout the whole following year.

We could not fulfil the mission and develop activities of the Aspen Institute Central Europe without the considerable support of the members of the Board of Directors and the Supervisory Board in which new outstanding individuals emerged in 2018, at the beginning of another three-year mandate, and without cooperation with corporate partners and individual sponsors. I would like to sincerely thank them all. The response from our alumni, who come up with new suggestions for the Aspen community and seek new impulses for their work, is a great encouragement. They are authentic bearers of uniqueness of the Aspen approach to contemporary challenges and living proof that all those who share these values and goals belong to the Aspen community.

On behalf of our team, I would like to thank you for your support. We are looking forward to our cooperation!

Our Programs

Aspen Young Leaders Program

Every year, young leaders from various professional fields meet within this program to discuss the current challenges and issues critical for society's development. The basic idea of the program is to encourage these promising young people to pause and reflect on the impact of their activities on the world, on society and on the future.

Annual Conference

The Aspen Institute Central Europe holds an annual conference at which the results of the year-round work of expert groups – a comprehensive and long-term perspective on political, economic and social developments in the Czech Republic and in Central Europe – are presented. Public figures have the opportunity to formulate new ideas that encourage society and its leaders to engage in self-reflection and comparison, and prompt discussion about additional political strategies in Central Europe.

Highlighting Topics of Public Interest

The Aspen Institute Central Europe expert meetings allow for a multifaceted discussion between policymakers and influential business and public figures. They address themes that resonate in politics, but also the impact of innovation and technology on the development of society, democracy, quality of life, change and formation of public opinion and its participation in decision-making. Global issues, transatlantic relations, and problems Europe and the Central European region are facing are discussed.

Aspen Young Leaders Program

Central to the program is the Aspen principle of inspirational encounters and reflecting upon various aspects of leadership. Each year outstanding young leaders from the countries of Central Europe, and from various professional fields, debate about the development of society and the challenges we face.

Held in the remote reaches of Central Europe, which allows the participants to step away from their daily routine, the four-day program consists of inspiring lectures, discussions and workshops with the common theme of leadership. The seminar is unique because of the strong emphasis on the quality and diversity of the speakers involved as well as the broad array of topics and participants. We emphasize informal activities, which allow for networking among the young leaders of Central Europe, exploring current societal challenges and expanding knowledge. The program aims at supporting individual development, promoting further professional development and provoking discussion of topics with broad social impact.

661 got inspired, engaged and passionate about many new topics that will enrich me on many levels. Met wonderful people and realized new things about myself. 99

Each year we invite over 30 outstanding young professionals from Central Europe, representing various fields, to debate the role of leaders in society and the challenges they face. The balanced mix of speakers and participants from business, politics, the arts, media and the non-profit sector guarantees provocative debates and intriguing ideas for interdisciplinary and international cooperation.

We organized another round of the Aspen Young Leaders Program in 2018. The seventh edition of the program was held in the Low Tatra Mountains on 15 – 18 March 2018. The speakers included Tanja Vainio, Country Managing Director of ABB for the Czech Republic and Slovakia, Member of European Parliament Michał Boni, Director, Choreographer and Performer Miřenka Čechová or a Researcher from The Center for Machine Perception, James Pritts.

Aspen Annual Conference

The Aspen Annual Conference is one of the Institute's flagship events. In 2018, the Annual Conference entitled The Shape of (Central) Europe was held on 22 November at Prague Crossroads and followed up on previous successful editions of this evaluative project realized since 2015.

The aim of the conference was to thoroughly evaluate the political, economic and social development of the Czech Republic in the context of Central Europe. We have built upon the successful years of the past and focused once again on expert group analysis of five key areas: competitiveness, quality of governance, education, defense and security and quality of life.

The comprehensive study of our expert groups has traditionally highlighted the most serious problems in individual areas. The results of the research were discussed in five panels by figures from politics, business or academia. At the end of the conference, as always, we prepared a summary of the most pressing issues in the given areas and a draft recommendation addressed to those who decide on the future of the Czech Republic.

The Aspen Annual Conference was concluded by the expert meeting held on 23 November at the Economia Media House, a partner of the entire conference. The experts summarized the conference outcomes from the perspective of Central Europe.

A new feature of this year's conference was the presentation of the conclusions of expert groups in the Czech regions. Three regional debates were held prior to the annual conference on the following topics: Will education help us succeed in a competitive environment?; Work Mobility; Why is e-government lagging behind business?. The contribution of regional debates, apart from the presentations of expert group outcomes in Czech regions, was a possibility to emphasize regional features and reflect on the perspective of regional experts at the annual conference.

The topics of the annual conference will be discussed in greater detail in public debates and expert seminars over the course of 2019, and not only in Prague.

Public Debates

The Aspen Institute Central Europe regularly organizes public debates and conferences about current social, economic and political topics, and challenges and opportunities in science and research. Working closely with leading journalists from the region maximizes the public impact of these discussions.

We organized public debates in all the Visegrad countries in 2018 and discussed the main issues the Institute focuses on: debates on the digital era, strategies for sustainable development and mobility of cities was organized in Bratislava; a debate on European Union issues was held in Warsaw; and artificial intelligence and its impact on society was discussed in Budapest. In cooperation with the Aspen Institute Romania and the Institute for Human Sciences from Austria, we organized an international conference Generation Next - Europe's Futures on the occasion of the Austrian Presidency of the Council of the European Union.

On the occasion of the hundredth anniversary of Czechoslovakia and the establishment of a new Central Europe, we held an international conference 1918 – 2018: What Happened to Wilsonian Idealism? and a public debate 100 Years of Czech Furniture in the series ArtMatch. We focused on the impact of artificial intelligence and digitalization. A successful debate Society 4.0: How to Prepare for the Impact of the Technological Revolution was organized in cooperation with ABRA Software and Opero within The Innovation Week, which is the largest event supporting innovations in the Czech Republic. In addition, several of our Young Leaders Program alumni spoke at the prestigious Future Port Prague event.

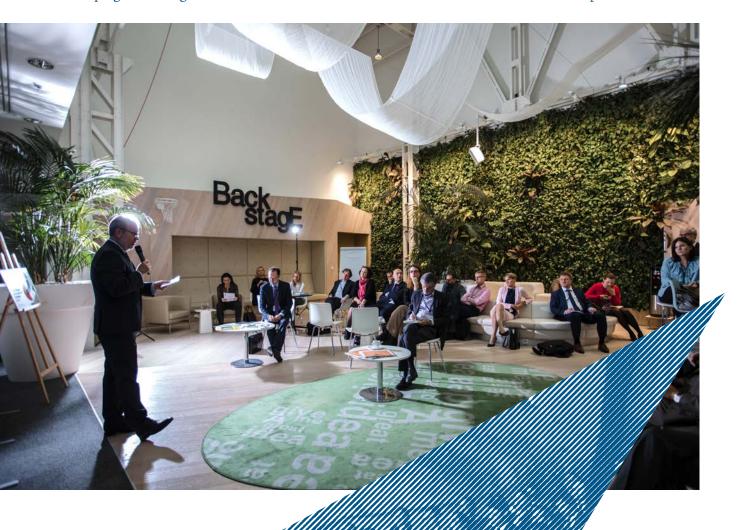

As in previous years, we continued public debates in the Aspen Review Café series, discussing topical issues in our quarterly magazine. The topics were Women in Power, Beyond the Human and The Face of Europe.

Policy Meetings

To create a more informed background for decision-making, the Aspen Institute Central Europe brings together Central European experts, policy and opinion leaders, and business representatives into small interdisciplinary groups for off-the-record workshops and seminars. Devoted to specific policies and issues, these meetings help participants find common ground and discuss questions from various angles.

We explored the issues of the sustainable development of cities even within our Policy program in Prague and Bratislava in 2018. The topic of innovation was discussed at the policy meeting of representatives from the V4 countries and Germany, which followed the series of expert meetings focused on the possibilities of cooperation among V4 countries and Germany from the previous year. We also organized events with the attendance of our alumni from the Aspen Young Leaders Program in Warsaw, Budapest and Bratislava, and continued to organize meetings of the V4 members of the EU parliament in Brussels. The highlight of the Brussels activities was a policy seminar Smart Strategies to Increase Prosperity and Limit Brain Drain in Central Europe.

Opinion

We have audited the accompanying financial statements of Aspen Institute Central Europe o.p.s. ("the Company"), prepared in accordance with Czech accounting legislation, which comprise the balance sheet as at 31 December 2018, and the income statement for the year then ended, and notes to the financial statements, including a summary of significant accounting policies and other explanatory notes. Information about the Company is set out in Note 1 to the financial statements.

In our opinion, the accompanying financial statements give a true and fair view of the financial position of the Company as at 31 December 2018, and of its financial performance for the year then ended in accordance with Czech accounting legislation.

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with the Act on Auditors, and Auditing Standards of the Chamber of Auditors of the Czech Republic, consisting of International Standards on Auditing (ISAs) as amended by relevant application guidelines. Our responsibilities under those regulations are further described in the Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of the Company in accordance with the Act on Auditors and the Code of Ethics adopted by the Chamber of Auditors of the Czech Republic, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Other Information

In accordance with Section 2(b) of the Act on Auditors, other information is defined as information included in the annual report other than the financial statements and our auditor's report. The statutory body is responsible for the other information.

Our opinion on the financial statements does not cover the other information. In connection with our audit of the financial statements, our responsibility is to read the other information and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the financial statements or our knowledge obtained in the audit, or otherwise appears to be materially misstated.

Based on the procedures performed, to the extent we are able to assess it, we report that the other information describing matters that are also presented in the financial statements is, in all material respects, consistent with the financial statements.

In addition, our responsibility is to report, based on the knowledge and understanding of the Company obtained in the audit, on whether the other information contains any material misstatement. Based on the procedures we have performed on the other information obtained, we have not identified any material misstatement.

Responsibilities of the Statutory Body and Supervisory Board for the Financial Statements

The statutory body is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in accordance with Czech accounting legislation and for such internal control as the statutory body determines is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, the statutory body is responsible for assessing the Company's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless the statutory body either intends to liquidate the Company or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

The Supervisory Board is responsible for the oversight of the Company's financial reporting process.

Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with the above regulations will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with the above regulations, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness

- of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by the statutory body.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of the statutory body's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Company to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.
